

Ancient Ones Asked What Was Wanted

What is heavy on your heart and mind?

What is the outcome you would have different?

I am deeply troubled by the increasing dishonesty from others - whether world 'leaders' or local neighbors. There are so many lies being told with deliberate intention to mislead.

What are we doing as individuals, women specifically, to secure ourselves within financial systems that are crumbling.

Heaviness: Difficulty to help people of good will move beyond positions of right vs wrong, beyond the density of the reality of most humans. If it takes so much effort for just one 'good at heart' person, how will we ever effectively impact the required numbers. Desired outcome: all or a critical mass of humans moved to a higher dimensional game board.

The outcome I'd like to see is honesty, integrity and being able to trust others's words.

he lies and deceit surrounding us, on personal and planetary levels. I want integrity to be the norm, not the exception.

How do we support the children and help them navigate these changing times?
desired outcome: Peace, happiness and thriving for the future

The outcome I would like to see is justice, opportunity , health , safety for all.

The outcome I would like to see is women encouraging women to embrace their sovereignty within emerging financial threads, barter and preparedness.

I want all humans to see their own claiming their place, their boundary setting, their defending of territory, their claiming of others' territory that they 'have a right to', I want us to see that all these are reflections of the pattern of aggression and defensive aggression. I want these patterns removed. This and better.

Mother Gaia, send wind to blow down every national flag, fire to burn down all the walls and border crossings, cleansing air to blow all claims of 'mine' from our minds. May our homes, towns and countries become one.
